Call for an Agricultural Convention at Frankfort, on the 11th of Jan., 1866.

At a meeting of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society, in Frankfort, on the 14th inst., a resolution was adopted authorizing the undersigned to call a convention to be held at Frankfort, on the 11th of January, 1866, under the auspices of the State Agricultural Society, for the purpose of considering the subject of labor in Kentucky. The present deranged condition of the labor system of the State renders it vastly important that steps should be immediately taken to supply the lack of labor, and with a view thereto to encourage the immigration of a desirable class of laborers to Kentucky. The undersigned, therefore, earnestly urge upon the farmers in all portions of the State to send delegates to the convention. Let every county be represented. The subjects to be considered embrace the most vital interests of the Commonwealth, and we hope, for the future prosperity and wealth of the State, that the convention will be largely attended.

Special Message from the President.

To the Senate of the U. S.:

In reply to a resolution adopted by the Senate on the 12th, I have the honor to state that the rebellion, waged by a portion of the people against the properly constituted authorities of the Government of the United States, has been suppressed; that the United States are now in possession of every State in which the insurrection existed, and that as far as could be done, the courts of the United States have been restored, post offices re-established, and steps taken to put into effective operation the revenues of the country.

As the result of the measures instituted by the Executive with the view of inducing a restoration of the functions of the States comprehended in the inquiry of the Senate, the people in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee, have re-organized their respective State Governments, and are yielding obedience to the laws and Government of the United States with more willingness and greater promptitude than under the circumstances could reasonably have been anticipated. The proposed amendment to the Constitution providing for the abolition of slavery forever within the limits of the country, has been ratified by each one of these States, with the exception of Mississippi, from which no official information has been received, and in nearly all of them measures have been adopted, or are now pending, to confer upon the freedmen the privileges which are essential to their comfort, protection and security. In Florida and Texas the people are making commendable progress in restoring their State Governments, and no doubt is entertained that they will at an early period be in a condition to resume all of their practical relations with the Federal Government. In that portion of the Union lately in rebellion, there is a view of all the circumstances, could well have been expected. The people throughout the entire South evince a laudable desire to renew their allegiance to the Government and repair the devastations of war by a prompt and cheerful return to peaceful pursuits. An abiding faith is entertained that their actions will conform to their professions, and that in acknowledging the supremacy of the Constitution and the laws of the United States their loyalty will be unreservedly given to the Government, whose leniency they cannot fail to appreciate, and whose fostering care will soon restore them to a condition of prosperity.

It is true that in some of the States the demoralizing effects of the war are to be seen in occasional disorders, but these are local in character and infrequent in appearance, and are rapidly disappearing as the authority of the civil power is extended and sustained. Perplexing questions were naturally to be expected from the great and sudden change in the relations between the two races; but systems are gradually developing themselves, under which the freedman will receive the protection to which he is justly entitled, and by means of his labor, make himself a useful and independent member of the community in which he has his home. From all the information in my possession, and from that which I have recently received from the most reliable authority, I am induced to cherish the belief that personal animosity is slowly and rapidly merging itself into a spirit of nationality, and that representation, connected with a properly adjusted system of taxation, will result in a harmonious restoration of the relations of the States to the national Union.

The report of Carl Schurz is herewith transmitted as requested by the Senate. No report from the Hon. John Coville has been received by the President. The attention of the Senate is invited to the accompanying report of Lieutenant General Grant, who recently made a tour of inspection through several of the States, whose inhabitants participated in the rebellion.

—[Signed]—ANDREW JOHNSON.

PARIS, KENTUCKY,
FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 22, 1865.

President Johnson sent to the U. S. Senate, on Tuesday last, a special message on the condition of affairs at the South and General Grant's report of his recent tour in several of the reconstructed States. Both documents are favorable to the temper of the Southern people, and view their conduct toward the General Government as being more kindly and honest than could be anticipated, considering the bitter and persevering animosity that actuated them during the rebellion and previous to it. Senator Sumner characterized the President's special message as a "white-washing document," a phrase which he refused to qualify, though ambiguously adding that he had not accused the President of falsehood. The message will be found in another column.

The French Legation is getting alarmed over the recent strong resolutions on Mexican matters introduced in the Senate by Mr. Wade, and in the House by Mr. Schenck. The First Secretary of the Legation has sailed for France to tell the Imperial Government that the American people and Congress are alike bitterly opposed to the French Austrian usurpation, and to get further instructions.

Ex-Governor Corwin, of Ohio, was struck with paralysis of the right side, while he was relating an anecdote, to an assemblage of Ohioans, at the State Agency in Washington City, on Friday evening last. He lingered in an unconscious condition until Monday last, when he departed this life, in the 72nd year of his age. Mr. Corwin was a native of this country, and has held a very prominent position for years in the history of his Country. He has been a member of both Houses of Congress, Governor of his State, Secretary of the Treasury, and recently Minister to Mexico.

Judge Ballard, of the United States District Court for Kentucky, delivered an important decision at Covington, in the case of members of the family of a colored soldier, who are entitled to their freedom under the laws of Congress, but who are held in slavery by their former owners. The man sought to secure the release of the persons held in slavery, but failed, owing as the Judge points out, to a defect in the law regulating the jurisdiction of the United States Courts.

The U. S. Consul at Liverpool, under date of Nov. 30, sends a dispatch to the Department of State, giving some facts in regard to the cattle plague, now raging in England and Scotland. He says for a time the district of Liverpool was exempt, but of late the disease has made its appearance, and is now as bad in that section as any other portion of the land. Thus far, Ireland does not appear to be affected with it. It was supposed that with the cold weather, the disease would abate. That opinion, however, proved delusive. Instead of abating it has greatly increased, the deaths from the plague in England and Scotland going up from 700 per week to 2,500.

Congress has passed an act, prohibiting the importation of foreign cattle—being the first act of the present session.

The U. S. House of Representatives on Tuesday last, by the requisite two thirds' vote, passed a constitutional amendment, to be submitted to the State Legislatures, preventing forever the assumption of the rebel debt.

Chief Justice Chase still objects to the trial of Jeff. Davis at Richmond, while that place is under military rule; and declines to furnish at present a copy of his correspondence with the President on the subject of the trial.

Gov. Bramlette has approved of the bill, repealing the Expiation act, and the legislature has also passed a bill to pardon persons charged with treason against State, and has repealed all laws, passed since the civil war, imposing disabilities upon persons, who were giving aid and comfort to the rebellion, together with the oath. It has blotted all the Legislature war measures from the record.

The Canadian Government is making strenuous exertions to secure a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty, by offering to enlarge the Welland Canal, admit United States vessels free and confer other advantages upon our commerce.

Soon after the arrival of the 6th U. S. Colored Cavalry, at Helena, Ark., it is stated upon reliable authority, that the regiment mutinied and murdered Colonel Bowen, the commander, and seven other officers.

The constitutionality of the test oath is pending before the U. S. Supreme Court, upon the application of R. H. Garland of Ark., to practice in the court without taking the oath.

The Secretary of the Treasury dismissed about seventy clerks, a few days ago, which is said to be only the beginning of the work of retrenchment.

The product of the gold and silver mines in the Territory of Montana, for 1865, is set down at $16,000,000.

The ice gorge in the river below St. Louis, gave way last Saturday afternoon, and the ice swept past the city with tremendous power, sinking or seriously damaging a dozen steamers and a number of barges, involving a loss of about $300,000.

A very destructive fire occurred in Chicago, on Saturday last, consuming three blocks of buildings on Franklin street, and destroying property to the amount of $250,000. The city has been terribly afflicted with fires recently, and the total losses in the past few weeks exceed five millions of dollars.

Col. John O'Fallon, one of the oldest, wealthiest and most respected citizens of St. Louis, died on Sunday last. He has bequeathed about one million of dollars to the cause of education and science.

CATTLE MARKETS.
NEW YORK, December, 19.

CATTLE—The market for Beef Cattle was scarce, and so firm last week, owing to heavy receipts. Christmas prime Cattle sold freely at 17½¢, and Steers, of which there was a large number, were very active at $100.00 to $120.00. The show of Christmas Beef was finer than ever before known in this market. Ordinary Cattle were heavy and prices ½¢ lower on all but prime offerings. Common Cattle sold at 90¢. The market closed very heavy at our quotations.

In the early portion of the week, the market was firm at $10.75 to $11.00, net, but prices gradually declined from day to day, and closed dull at $10.50. IN MEMORIAM.
On the night of Dec. 1st, at 10 o'clock, the spirit of MARY ROGERS WALKER, passed sweetly from death to life. She was a native of this county. She had been ill for about fourteen weeks, during which time her devoted grand-children and others, had faithfully ministered to her by day and by night. To her grand-children and others, she was doubly dear, from the fact that she had resided with them for eight or nine years, since the death of her devoted mother, of whom she was a devoted daughter, and in school, she was especially a favorite. In her home—about the death of her grand-children, which she had anticipated, she was a devoted daughter, and in school, she was especially a favorite. A SUPERIOR
SCOTT COUNTY FARM
FOR SALE.
H A VING determined to quit farming, I offer for sale my farm (known as the Merritt William farm) on which I reside, lying in the county of Scott, on South Elkhorn Creek, 12 miles west of Lexington, 2 miles west of Paris, on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and 6 miles southwest of Georgetown, and immediately on the Bethel pike, which connects with the depot pike, and leading to all of the above named places. The farm contains about
550 Acres
Of very superior land, all well set in grass, except 100 acres, 60 acres of that in small grass. There is an abundance of the best of timber of all the kinds, located so as to be very convenient to all parts of the farm. There is an abundance of stock water at all seasons of the year, (wells, pools and ponds. There is also a quantity of good stone fence on the farm.
The dwelling is a large two-story brick, with four rooms and a bath in front, and two story ell, 60 feet running back, containing dining room, store room and kitchen, with large box cellar above; also two full length porches, one above and below, with a veranda for summer dining-room on the opposite side; also a fine cellar under both front and ell, and divided in rooms as above. The out-buildings are good and of every description that is needed on such a farm. There is also a good stream of the house, and a spring of water in the yard, with a nice pool below. There is a young apple orchard of 150 trees just ready to bear, with a large quantity of peaches, pear, plum and cherry trees, all selected from the best nurseries, with an abundance of fine grapes and all of the smaller fruits.
The farm is very susceptible of division, it having originally been in two tracts, with another building on it, which, with some improvements, would be very comfortable. There would also be plenty of timber and water attached to both tracts. The farm is a fine place for a family, or for a small farm, and is a fine place for a small farm, and is a fine place for a small farm.
